

Global Price Increase for Evonik Oleochemical and Silicone Specialities in Textiles & Tissue, Metal Working Fluid and Industrial Applications

Evonik will increase prices by up to six percent for its products for Textiles & Tissue, Metal Working Fluids and Industrial Applications depending upon product, package and quantity effective July 15th, 2017. This will apply globally to all orders shipped on or after this date as contracts allow. All other prices become invalid at this date.

This adjustment will enable the Interface & Performance business line of Evonik to continue to invest in providing its customers with the highest quality, excellent technical service and broadest portfolio of silicone and oleochemical based solutions in the industry.
